Refilling of the Mulwala and Wakool Canals is nearing completion

Diversions to lateral channels will commence no later than Monday 11 August.

The Wakool Canal is being filled using supplementary water which is available until Saturday 9 August.

Supplementary water is not available at the Mulwala offtake.

As water fills each section, and where channel levels permit, customers may be supplied with their water order while filling is being completed - provided there is no detrimental impact to channel filling.

This means that water ordered and delivered to customers will be in addition to the volume used for channel filling.

Murray Irrigation anticipates that water will be available to all customers for delivery by Monday 18 August.

Customers who wish to receive a more detailed indication of when water is likely to be available to them should contact their Channel Attendant directly.

Customers seeking delivery prior to Monday 18 August are strongly encouraged to contact their Channel Attendant prior to placing their order to enable a realistic order commencement date.

Any customers requiring water should then place an order in the system which will assist Murray Irrigation to prioritise channel filling procedures. In some cases, a wait of more than four days may apply.

If you require stock and domestic water, please contact your Channel Attendant who will attend to your requirements.

Channel Attendant contact numbers are listed on the next page.

Wakool customers may experience earlier access to water due to the accelerated filling procedure instigated because of supplementary water access.
